TUNKHANNOCK.

Miss Carry Sperry, of Sayre, returned to her home yesterday, after a two weeks' visit with friends at Lemon and Dimock.

Braintown township has twenty-eight people above the age of 70 years.

Clothesline thieves are pestering housewives in the northern limits of town.

The highways are nearly as dusty as in midsummer, and small creeks are frozen dry.

Several farmers report having to drive cattle a mile to water.

A fatal accident occurred on the farm of Fred Miller, in Tunkhannock township, at about 9 a. m. yesterday.

A young man named Stephen Ardel, whose home is at Hazleton, was living at Mr. Miller's and working for him on the farm during the winter.

Yesterday morning Miller and Ardel went to the woods to fell trees for firewood.

They were using a saw to cut the trees down, and having cut one so nearly off that it began to topple, Miller snatched the saw away and told the young man to get out of danger.

Both stepped backward, but the tree in its fall struck another one and the butt was hurled around sideways with tremendous force.

It struck Ardel, knocking him ten or twelve feet, and pinning him against another tree, the trunk of the fallen tree resting against his shoulder.

He was not instantly killed, but he lay motionless, endeavoring to pry the tree trunk off, but was unable to do so.

He then ran to the neighbors for assistance, but the distance was great, and not finding anyone at the first house visited, it was some time before he could raise help and get back to the woods.

When he did so he found Ardel dead. It is not probable that he could have lived if he had been extricated at once.

The authorities were notified, but the death was so plainly accidental that they did not deem an inquest necessary.

The victim's brother, Frank Ardel, of DuPont, was notified and will doubtless make disposition of the remains. He is about twenty-eight years of age, unmarried, and was highly esteemed by Mr. Miller, with whom he had lived a couple of winters.

Programmes may be obtained of Dr. W. H. Herman, local member of the state board of agriculture.

Friends here have received a telegram apprising them of the death at Phillipsburg, Montana, of Jane, wife of George, who has been ill for some time, and to that, doubtless, her death was due.

The husband has softened of the brain and his death has been expected for some time, but he still lingered.

The teachers' institute opened yesterday morning with a talk by Prof. Groff on primary geography.

He thought each teacher should own an atlas, and children should be taught geography very young—before they are old enough to study a book.

County and state maps should be hung on the walls of the schoolroom, and directions and distances should be taught, as well as other facts pertaining to the study.

For advanced classes he would use topics. Children should get a practical knowledge of geography in two years, and should not be kept at it through the whole course of school life.

Prof. Sullitt followed with a talk on civics government. He thought every child should have an idea of the government of its own country, at least, and a good way to begin was with township government.

He thought it ought to be inculcated in voting, also, and would recommend teachers who had no regular class in civics government, to take it up as a morning exercise at the opening of school.

In the afternoon Prof. Groff dwelt on plant and animal life. Prof. Sullitt took up dissection, illustrating his talk with blackboard exercises.

The evening audience was entertained by an interesting lecture by Paul Du Chaillet, the noted African explorer and author.

Scorton Jayne, one of Laceyville's oldest citizens, died yesterday. The funeral will be held Thursday at 10 a. m., at the Laceyville Baptist church.

BRUTAL MURDER.

Two Italians Fight Over a Game of Cards—The Result.

About one o'clock yesterday afternoon a brutal murder was committed in the Italian quarters in Spring Alley.

William D'Angelo and Giovanni Distasio were engaged at a game of cards, which a dispute arose as to whom the "pot" belonged.

William D'Angelo claims the "pot" and took the money which was the small sum of twenty cents.

D'Angelo picked the money up, Distasio jumped up and drew an ugly looking silletto and was about to plunge it into D'Angelo when Nichol Margareto and his wife rushed in.

The latter pushed D'Angelo out of the house while her husband put Distasio out of another door.

Distasio lay in wait for D'Angelo at the corner of the house and when he appeared he sprang upon him like a tiger and at once plunged the knife into his victim's neck three times when he turned and ran out of the alley into Kennedy street and out Charles street Main until he reached Water street.

William Owens who was in pursuit with several others, got before him with a stone and tried to stop him, when Henry Kusiel rushed up behind him and grabbed him. At this moment Chief Loftus arrived on the scene and the prisoner was turned over to him.

He was at once locked up and disarmed. Shortly after he was taken before Alderman Loftus for a hearing and was committed to the county jail.

A jury was empaneled by Alderman Loftus who afterward viewed the remains of the dead man, who was picked up and taken into the house of Nichol Margareto, in whose house the quarrel began, and adjourned to meet at the Alderman's office this evening at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Barrett was called and examined the wounds and stated that an artery of the neck had been severed. The murdered man was unmarried and lived with his younger brother, also unmarried. He was said to be a very quiet and inoffensive person and was about 25 years of age.

The murderer is a short, vicious looking fellow and bears a bad reputation among his fellow countrymen. When seen in the lockup his face and hands were covered with blood, and when his attention was called to this he proceeded to lick it off with his tongue.

Chief Loftus has in his possession the bloody weapon which was used to do the deed and is a dangerous looking instrument having a blade six inches in length.

The murderer refuses to say anything in regard to the murder when questioned, but it is thought that this is the cause of a long standing grudge.

Indigestion

Yields readily to Hood's Sarsaparilla because it tones and strengthens the stomach and aids digestion by supplying pure blood.

"I had indigestion so badly that I was all run down and could hardly walk. Had no appetite and could not sleep. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and before I had taken a fourth of a bottle I was much better. I also used Hood's Pills and found them splendid, very mild, yet effective.
